2. EXTERNAL BUSINESS ENVIROMENT

2.1 Macroeconomic environment

The growth rate of the Polish economy throughout 2015 remained stable at close to 3.5% y/y despite the varying trends in the external environment. The deep recession in Russia and Ukraine, together with the slowdown / recession in many emerging countries (mainly in China) limited the strength of external demand, but the positive impact of the recovery in the euro zone was dominating. The positive impulse –significant drop in oil prices came from the external environment. As a result, domestic demand remained on the path of recovery. Consumption growth remained stable at just over 3% with the continued improvement in the labour market and deflation increasing the real purchasing power of households. Strong investment demand at the beginning of the year was supported by favourable weather, while in the second half of the year to maintain 10% growth of companies investments, the growth was supported by expansion/modernization of production potential in the automotive industry and the energy. On the other hand, decrease in government investment in the second half of the year was due to the end of the 2007-2013 financial perspective. In the whole 2015, the growth of GDP amounted to 3.6%. In 2015 recorded growth acceleration in the corporate sector amounted up to 1.3% from 0.6% in 2014, with a clear lowering of the unemployment rate to 9.8% at the end of 2015 from 10.4% at the end of 2014. Remuneration growth in the corporate sector slowed slightly in 2015 to 3.5% from 3.7% in 2014.

Bank Polski

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

In 2015, the average annual CPI inflation rate dropped to -0.9% from 0.0% y/y in 2014. The downward trend continued until March 2015 when inflation reached -1.5% y/y. This is mainly due to the deepening decline in the raw material prices, in particular food and oil. The subsequent rebound of fuel was only a statistical effect (oil prices fell, however a low base effect took place). The scale of food prices decline decreased almost throughout the whole year, which was due to a slowdown in the global downward trend and an extremely dry summer. The rate of core inflation fell during the year from 0.6% in January to 0.2% in December, mainly due to the slowdown in the growth of prices in term of communication, entertainment and education. Deflation tendencies during 2015 did not have a negative impact on the Polish economy, due to the low level of public debt and the private sector.

MPC decided to reduce all of NBP interest rates by 50bp in March (reference 1.50%), which was influenced by the decline of inflation to the lowest level in the recent history of the Polish economy. Later that year MPC decided not to cut the rates, decision was supported by the: progressive shortness of deflation, maintaining the GDP growth above 3% y/y and the Polish zloty depreciation.

2.2 Situation on the financial market

Stock market

The 2015 brought a big disappointment to the Warsaw Stock Exchange. Despite the good performance of the Polish economy, WIG fell by 10%, which ranks it among the indices of the countries where the economic situation was incomparably worse. This was primarily because the main components of the major stock indexes come from the sectors where the influence of the state economic policy is significant and investors decided that actual or potential decisions as unfavourable or at least risky for many companies. Relatively good economic situation prevailed on Western stock exchanges. In the euro zone the long awaited recovery has come although during the year Euroland was shaken by the negative political events (negotiations with Greece, avalanche influx of immigrants, the intensification of terrorism) stock exchanges have brought solid profits. STOXX50 index rose by 5%. This probably helped the European Central Bank, which intensified the stimulus efforts. The level of S&P500 index in the US remained unchanged. American companies bothered with strong dollar, weak foreign demand and slowly increasing wage pressure, which have not been able to compensate sales volumes. Energy sector was under pressure because of cheap oil. The year proved to be very difficult for most developing countries, it was reflected in the return rates of stock market indices. The year was very turbulent for the Chinese stock market, where 25% correction took place in August.

Currency market

The Eurodollar amounted to 1.20 at the beginning of the 2015 and ended close to the level of 1.09. The extension of quantitative expansion in the euro area in January and the strong expectation for a rate hike in the US pushed EURUSD to about 1.05 in mid-March. FED withdrawal from tightening monetary policy in the first quarter and conditioning the potential rate hikes from the dollar, further improvement in the labour market and inflation resulted in no change in monetary policy of the US in the second and third quarter. With the weakening of expectations for a quick hikes in the US, the EUR/USD exchange rate to the end of August has reached around 1.17. However, the progressive slowdown in the Chinese economy and strong expectations for a rate hike in the US until the end of 2015, strengthened the dollar against the euro. EUR/PLN started the year at the level of 4.28 and closed at the level of 4.26. Cessation of EUR/CHF defence at 1.20 by the SNB, temporarily weakened the EUR/PLN at the rate of 4.34, but the next few months brought the appreciation of Polish zloty thanks to the end of interest rate cuts in Poland at a relatively high level compared to previous expectations of the market and visibly softer FED rhetoric with respect to the prospects of rate hikes in 2015. As a result, in April the EUR/PLN reached 3.96 (annual minimum). Concerns of Greece bankruptcy and its exit from the euro zone resulted in a reversal of the ongoing trend since the beginning of the Polish zloty appreciation. Although in the beginning of July, Greece finally reached an agreement with creditors, thus avoiding the "GREXIT", however a growing economic slowdown in China, combined with a collapse of the Shanghai stock exchange (which occurred in mid-August) gradually weakened the Polish zloty until the end of 2015.

Interest rates market

The 2015 brought very high volatility in the interest rate market. Yields on 2-year treasury bonds fell by 20 bps to 1.55%, while in the 5-year rose by 9 bps. to 2.21% and 10-year old by 43 bps to 2.94%. Thus, the yield curve significantly dressed up, reaching for the spread of 2Y,10Y at the end of the year, level of 135bps. Beyond the changing shape of the expansion curve, the asset swap spreads was observed, it was related to increased concerns about the situation in emerging markets, as well as the announcement of increase in the borrowing needs of Poland in the coming years. The valuation of short-term treasury bonds strengthened the decision of the ECB to loose monetary policy in the euro area, prolonged period of deflation in Poland, the decline of global raw material prices and ongoing expectations for easing of monetary policy. On the other hand, in the case of longer end of the curve a negative impact of the valuation was at the beginning of the normalization of monetary policy in the US, the Polish zloty depreciation, as well as increased concerns about the economies of emerging markets.

Bank Polski

2.3 Situation in the Polish banking sector

Financial result

In 2015, the banking sector operated in conditions of economic growth, accompanied by a good situation on the labour market and financial sector. At the same time, the banking sector remained adversely affected by the bankruptcy of the cooperative banking sector, record-low key interest rates and charges resulting from regulatory changes (including the reduction of interchange fees, increased fees for a bank deposit guarantee system, the creation of Borrowers Support Fund). Banks fail to complete a portion of the revenue by engaging in support for currency borrowers (the so-called "six-pack") after the Swiss central bank's decision to release the CHF against the EUR. As a result, the net profit of the banking sector in 2015 amount to PLN 11.5 billion, a decrease of 27.6% compared to the net profit realized in 2014.

The results of the banking sector in 2015 were positively influenced by one-off events, including the sale of subsidiaries by some banks, but their impact on the situation of the banking sector was significantly lower than the negative factors.

Chart 1. Change in the net profit of the banking sector (PLN billion)

In 2015, a decrease in the result of business activity in the banking sector was influenced by the reduction of the interest income (-4.8% y/y) net fee and commission income (-3.3% y/y). Operating expenses of the banks increased by almost 12% y/y and net write-offs result at the end of 2015 has worsened, despite the improvement in the first half of the year.

Profitability of the banking sector at the end of 2015, was at a record low level – ROE fell to 6.8% at the end of the 2015, from 10% at the end of 2014.

Quality of credit portfolio

In 2015, the quality of the loan portfolio improved compared to 2014. At the end of 2015, loans rate to non-financial sector declined to 7.5% (8.1% at the end 2014), with an appreciable improvement in the quality of all main categories of loans, including consumer loans (quality improvement by 0.8 pp y/y to 12%) and corporate loans (quality improvement by 1.2 p.p. r/r to 10.2%). The improvement of quality of corporate loans applies mainly to large enterprises than loans to SMEs. The quality of the housing loans portfolio improved y/y, the risk index of housing loans in CHF deteriorated and amounted to 3.4% at the end of 2015 (3.1% at the end of 2014), and the rate of mortgage loans risk in PLN fell y/y 0.7 p.p. to 2.7%

Financial position statement

At the end of the 2015, sum of total assets of the banking sector rose to PLN 1 600 billion, and its annual growth rate amounted to 4.4% y/y vs 9.0% y/y at the end of 2014. Equity of the banking sector amounted to PLN 173.7 billion at the end of 2015, this is an increase of 4.7% y/y. At the same time capital leverage in the banking sector (the ratio of equity to assets) remained at a stable level, i.e. amounted to 10.86% at the end of 2015 compared to 10.84% at the end of 2014.

In 2015, the situation on the lending and deposit market was shaped by significant weakening of the Polish currency against the CHF and the decline of the interest rate.

Chart 3. The rate change of loans in the banking sector (y/y)

The situation on the loan market in 2015 compared to 2014 was under the influence of a good macroeconomic situation, the continuing influence of visible weakening of the Polish currency.

At the end of December 2015 the value of loans rose to PLN 1 077 billion (+7.0% y/y), which was the result of both, the increase in household loans and corporate loans.

In 2015, a slowdown in the growth rate of housing loans in PLN (+11.0% y/y, compared to 13.5% y/y in 2014). The consumer loans rate of growth increased (+7.2% y/y vs +4.5% y/y in 2014), this is because of the impact of record low Lombard rates, determining the maximum interest level on consumer lanes. The annual rate of change of consumer lending at the end of 2015 was the highest since May 2010

In 2015, the recovery on the corporate loan market continued, their value increased by approx. PLN 24 billion, and the annual growth rate was 8.3% (compared to 6.5% at the end of December 2014). The situation in the market of corporate loans was the result of economic prosperity.

Chart 5. The rate of change of deposits in the banking sector (y/y)

Total deposits of the banking sector in 2015 increased stronger y/y than loans (respectively 7.6% and 7.0% y/y), and after eliminating the currency effect the annual growth rate of deposits was significantly higher than loans. At the end of 2015, the volume of deposits increased to PLN 1 046 billion, while slowdown of annual growth (of -1.7 p.p.)

The increase in deposits was mainly due to the increase in personal deposits, with a significant decline in deposits of government characterized by relatively higher volatility.

Bank Polski

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

Despite significant reductions in interest rates on term deposits, deposits of individuals maintained high growth rate y/y, which amounted to 9.8% (slightly lower than at the end of December 2014), with the apparent high rate growth of current deposits of individuals (+13.5% y/y). The increase in personal deposits was influenced by the improving situation on the labour market and the relatively low return rate realized on the investment funds market.

2.5 Tendencies in the Polish and global economies in 2016 and their effect on the Bank's results.

In the external environment of the Polish economy, the year 2016 should bring a moderate improvement, which is however, fraught with multiple risk factors. We expect a continuation of the recovery in the euro area, supported by a further loosening of monetary policy and low oil prices. The main risk factors for the euro area are continuing debt problems of Greece, the possible occurrence from the European Union of the UK, the consequences of the migration crisis and the situation in emerging economies. The crisis in emerging economies may have two reasons: the outflow of investors after interest rate hikes by the FED and the deepening economic slowdown in China. The fall of raw material prices and the strengthening of US dollar will contribute to the continuation of the recession in Russia, accompanied by a tightening fiscal policy due to the decrease of income from oil exports.

We are forecasting that in 2016 Poland's economic growth will remain stable at around 3.5% (as in 2015), the weaker in first and stronger in the second half of the year. GDP growth in 2016 will support primarily loosening of fiscal policy at the central level (which can strengthen 1.0 p.p. GDP growth), which will mitigate the slowdown in public investment (railway and local government, which can have negative affect 0.6 p.p. from GDP growth) and negative credit boost associated with the introduction of additional capital requirements and the tax burden for the banking sector (negative contribution of this factor in GDP growth is estimated at -0.3 p.p.). Keeping up (or continued decrease) the lowest oil prices for more than a decade affects the extension of deflation period, positively affecting the real purchasing power of consumers. In 2016, the structure of GDP growth will most likely change, private consumption supported by fiscal policy (500+ program) will be the main engine of growth in domestic demand (and GDP).

We anticipate that strong growth in the demand for labour in 2016 will be continued and will affect drop in registered unemployment rate to approx. 8.9% at the end of 2016 from 9.8% at the end 2015. In the 2015-2016, we assume stable growth in real disposable income in the range of 3.5% y/y, while we anticipate that 2016 will be similar in terms of increased growth of nominal wages and CPI inflation.

In December 2015, the growth rate of consumer prices amounted to -0.5% y/y. Until September 2015, CPI inflation should be relatively stable, oscillating around zero, and then start to grow to achieve approx. 1.0% y/y in December 2016, it will end a period of over two years of deflation. The rise in inflation in the 4th quarter of 2016 will be due to the low base effect (temporary disinflationary factors at the end of 2015) and the strengthening of demand pressure on prices. The gradual increase in inflation will lead to an increase in average annual CPI inflation to 0.2% y/y in 2016 vs -0.9% y/y in 2015. The most serious risk factor for this forecast is the behaviour of the agricultural raw materials and energy prices.

Despite almost zero inflation for most part of the year, we expect that MPC will keep the CPB interest rates unchanged, as indicated by the expression of new Council members, the weakening of the Polish zloty exchange rate, expansionary fiscal policy of the new government and the continuation of economic growth exceeding the growth rate of potential output.

In the banking sector we anticipate a steady growth in loans (approx. 6% y/y in Q4 2016 and in the 4th quarter of 2015, adjusted for exchange rates) as a result of the demand for credit from the private sector (the effect of the economic recovery and growth investments) under record-low interest rates of the CPB. According to our forecasts, there will be a slowdown of growth in deposits (up to approx. 7% y/y in Q4 2016 of 9% y/y in Q4 2015; adjusted by exchange rate), with a weaker growth rate of deposits of non-financial entities and the weakening of the dynamics in personal deposits (stronger interest in alternative forms of saving than deposits, in conditions of record low interest rates and the expected rebound in consumption).

Net interest income

Obtained in 2015 net interest income amounted to PLN 6 820.1 million and was PLN 128.7 million lower than last year. Net interest income was determined by the further decline in the level of market interest rates (WIBOR 1M and 3M was annualized respectively 0.43 p.p. and 0.34 p.p.), it was partially compensated by an increase in revenues associated with the increase in the loan portfolio and reduction of financing costs.

Interest income in 2015 amounted to PLN 9 382.9 million in compared to 2014 was lower by 5.3%, which is mainly the result of a decline:

- Income from loans and advances to customers by (PLN -508.2. million y/y) – the effect of lower interest rates on loans as a result of revaluation of the portfolio due to the decline of the market interest rates and reduction of interest rates on consumer loans based on formula 4xLombard (from the end of 2013, the maximum interest on loans fell by 6 p.p. from 16% to 10%). This decrease was partially compensated by an increase in the volume of loans and advances to customers (+6.2% y/y)
- income from securities - the effect of lower interest rates resulting from a decline in market interest rates,
- with the increase in income from hedging derivatives (PLN +107.6 million y/y), mainly due to the increase in the spread between rates paid and received from the IRS transactions in PLN, due to the decline in WIBOR market rates

Interest costs in 2015 amounted to 2 562.8 million PLN and in comparison with 2014 was lower by 13.4% mainly as a result of decrease in the cost of amounts due to customers. The decrease in the cost of amounts due to customers resulted from a lower average interest rates on deposits – the effect of lower market interest rates and the adjustment of pricing of deposit products. Changes in the structure of deposits involving the increase of the share of current deposits in total deposits have positive impact on the level of interest costs from customers liabilities.

In 2015, the average interest rate on loans of PKO Bank Polski SA amounted to 4.2%, and the average interest rate deposits in total stood at 1.1% against, respectively 5.3% and 1.4% in 2014.

As at the end of 2015 the main item in these sources of financing constituted loans received from monetary financial institutions, where it is recognized the credit line from Nordea Bank AB (publ), being a part of the transaction of acquisition of the Nordea Group's assets by PKO Bank Polski SA (received for the purpose of financing the acquired portfolio of mortgage loans).

Another important category of long-term financing were loans received from non-monetary financial institutions, including mainly loans received from its subsidiary PKO Finance AB which is dealing with the issue of securities on foreign markets. The decrease of these obligations is the result of repayment funds related to two bond issues with face value of EUR 800 million and CHF 500 million from PKO Finance AB which were made respectively in October and December 2015.

The increase in liabilities from bond issue is a result of increase in funds obtained under the short term issued program open in 2009. In the past year the Bank issued three series of bonds denominated in PLN and one series denominated in EUR intended to buyers in the domestic. At the end of the year the debt of all above amounted to PLN 800 million and EUR 200 million.

5.2.1 Credit risk

Credit risk is defined as a risk of occurrence of losses due to counterparty's default of payments to the Bank or as a risk of decrease in economic value of amounts due to the Bank as a result of deterioration of counterparty's ability to repay amounts due to the Bank. The objective of credit risk management is to minimise losses on the credit portfolio as well as to minimise the risk of occurrence of loans threatened with impairment exposure, while keeping expected level of profitability and value of credit portfolio at the same time

The Bank applies mainly the following principles of credit risk management:

- each loan transaction is a subject to comprehensive credit risk assessment, which is reflected in an internal rating or credit scoring,
- credit risk assessment related to loan transactions is measured on the stage of loan request review and on a cyclical basis during the monitoring process, taking into consideration changes in external conditions and in the financial standing of the borrowers,
- credit risk assessment of exposures is separated from the sales function by ensuring proper organizational structure, independent development and validation of tools supporting the assessment of credit risk and the independence of the decision accepting derogations from the indication of these tools,
- terms of loan contracts that are offered to a client depend on the credit risk level generated by the contract,
- loan granting decisions are made only by authorised persons,
- credit risk is diversified particularly by geographical location, by industry, by product and by clients,
- expected credit risk level is mitigated by collaterals received by the Bank, credit margins collected from clients and impairment allowances on loan exposures.

The above mentioned policies are executed by the Bank through the use of more advanced credit risk management methods, both on the level of individual exposures and on the level of the whole credit portfolio of the Bank.

These methods are developed to ensure compliance with the internal rating based method (IRB) requirements, i.e. advanced credit risk measurement method, which can be used while calculating own capital requirements for credit risk after being approved by the Polish Financial Supervision Authority.

The Bank assesses the credit risk of retail clients on two dimensions: the client's borrowing capacity and creditworthiness. The assessment of borrowing capacity involves an examination of the client's financial situation, whereas the creditworthiness assessment involves scoring and evaluating the client's credit history obtained from internal records of the Bank and external databases.

The evaluation of credit risk related to financing institutional clients is performed in two dimensions: in respect of the client and of the transaction. The assessment measures comprise primarily, ratings of clients and transactions.

The models were prepared using internal data of the Bank which ensures that they are tailored to the risk profile of the Bank's clients.

Models are based on a statistical dependence analysis between the default and a customer's risk scoring. Scoring includes an assessment of the financial indicators, qualitative factors and evaluation of behavioural factors. The client's risk assessment depends on the size of the enterprise for which analysis is made. In addition, the Bank has implemented a model for assessment of credited entrepreneurs in the formula of specialist financing, which allows adequate credit risk assessment of large projects involving real estate financing (e.g. office space, retail areas, industrial areas) and infrastructure projects (e.g. telecommunications, industrial, public utility infrastructure).

The rating and scoring models are implemented in a new IT tool that supports the Bank's credit risk assessment related to financing corporate clients.

In order to assess the correctness of functioning of methods used in the Bank, methodologies of assessment of credit risk related to individual credit exposures, are reviewed on a periodical basis.

Bank Polski

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

In the case of the small and medium enterprises that meet certain criteria, the Bank assesses credit risk using the scoring method. This assessment is dedicated to low-value, uncomplicated loan transactions and it is performed in two dimensions: clients' borrowing capacity and creditworthiness. The borrowing capacity assessment involves examination of the client's economic and financial situation, whereas the creditworthiness assessment involves scoring and evaluation of the client's credit history obtained from internal records of the Bank and external databases.

The information about ratings and scoring is widely used in the Bank for the purposes of credit risk management, in particular in the system of credit decision-making by determining the conditions of activating credit risk assessment and in the credit risk assessment and reporting system.

The Bank implements improvements for ongoing monitoring of the loan portfolio of small and medium enterprises and customers of corporate and investment Banking segment, it allows a faster response to changes in the existing portfolio and comprehensive information about its quality. In 2015, the Bank changed the loan process of the customers of corporate and investment Banking segment. According to this model, the risk assessment is performed only by credit risk assessment cells. At the same time making credit decisions for these clients is performed with a double decision by the representatives of the business cells and cells of credit risk assessment.

Process of assessing non-resident (German entities) was also introduced, including those that are running account reporting according to HGB (HandelGesetzBuch).

The exchange within the Group (with PKO Leasing SA) was initiated in the range of warning signals and customer limits.

In 2015, the Bank implemented application solutions and procedure improvement of the process of measuring the impairment, loan exposures and interest income. Developed methods used in the calculation of write-offs and provisions, including the methodology for estimating the parameters of portfolio, with due regard to the portfolio acquired in 2014 and portfolio of SKOK acquired in 2015.

Methods of interest rate risk management in the Bank's subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by those entities which are characterised by significant values of interest rate risk measure outcomes. These regulations are developed after consultation with the Bank and include recommendations issued to the entities by the Bank.

- it does not require any initial net investment or requires only a small initial net investment compared with other types of contracts which similarly respond to changes in market terms,
- it is to be settled at a future date.

The process of derivative risk management is integrated with the management of: interest rate, currency, liquidity and credit risks. However, due to the specific nature of derivatives it is subject to special control specified in the internal regulations of the Bank.

The Bank measures the derivative instrument risk using, i.a. the Value at Risk (VaR) model, which is discussed in the chapter concerning interest rate risk or in the chapter concerning currency risk, depending on the risk factor which affects the value of the instrument.

Risk management is carried out by imposing limits on derivative instruments divided into banking and trading portfolio, monitoring the use of limits and reporting risk level.

Master agreements concluded by the Bank with the major business partners based on the standards developed by the Polish Bank Association (domestic banks) and ISDA (foreign banks and credit institutions), which allow offsetting mutual liabilities, both due (mitigation of settlement risk) and not yet due (mitigation of pre-settlement risk), are particularly important for mitigating the risk associated with derivative instruments. Additional collateral for exposures, resulting from derivative instruments are collateral deposits escrowed by counterparties as a part of CSA agreements (Credit Support Annex).

Methods of derivative risk management in the Group's subsidiaries are defined by internal regulations implemented by these entities which take up positions in derivative instruments or plan to take positions in such instruments. These regulations are developed after consultation with the Bank and take into account the recommendations issued to entities by the Bank.

6.7 Agreements concluded between the issuer and managing persons

Within the meaning of § 2 clause 1 item 30a of the Decree of the Minister of Finance of 19 February 2009 on current and periodical information submitted by issuers of securities and the conditions of considering as equivalent the information required by law of a non-member country (Journal of Laws No. 33, item 259 with subsequent amendments), members of the Management Board are persons managing the Bank.

In 2014, two agreements were signed with each of the members of the Management Board of PKO Bank Polski SA, providing for compensation in the case of their resignation or dismissal:

- an employment contract, providing for severance pay in the event of termination from reasons other than violation of the basic obligations arising from the employment relationship, in the amount of three monthly basic salaries,
- a non-competition agreement, providing for damages for complying with the noncompetition requirement during 6 months after termination of the employment relation, amounting to 100% of the monthly basic salary received before termination of the employment relation, to be paid monthly in arrears during the non-competition period.

6.8 Evaluation of the remuneration policy for the realization of its objectives

Consistency of the current remuneration policy with a long-term increase in shareholder value and stability of the Bank's is best guaranteed by "Principles of the variable components of the remuneration of persons holding managerial positions at the Bank" and issued on the basis of regulations of the variable components of remuneration binding for existing key managers with a high impact on the risk profile of the Bank (MRT), including members of the Board.

The rules indicate that the assigned to MRT goals are to ensure the inclusion of the business cycle of the Bank and the risks associated with the ongoing operations. The risk is taken into account by both determining appropriate risk-sensitive criteria for performance evaluation and reduction of bonus or even lack of it in case of degraded performance or financial losses of the Bank (including the use of malus with respect to deferred for three years part of the variable remuneration).

Goals guarantee:

- motivation for the quality work and the right attitude that help Bank to achieve the best, stable financial results in the long run,
- supporting sound and effective risk management and discouraging excessive risk-taking beyond acceptable level,
- supporting the implementation of the business strategy and the reduction of conflict of interest.

Criteria for evaluation of the objectives by the person holding the position of MRD, including a member of the Board shall include i.a.:

- the impact on regulatory capital, total capital ratio and equity of the Bank so that the payment of variable remuneration does not limit possibilities to strengthen them,
- result of the Bank under the responsibility of the individual, taking into account the outcomes of the Bank.

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

In the design of the structure of efficiency measures different types of KPIs are summarized, in particular quantitative and effectiveness indicators resulting from owned data system, and consistent with the specifics of the organization. All efficiency measures are parameterized and are measurable. Due to the nature of the given position, the proportion of different share of the different levels of the evaluation is determined as well as the weights according to types of KPIs. Responsibility for long-term financial performance adjusted for risk and costs is used with different design depending on the specific tasks.

The Supervisory Board in relation to the members of the Board and the Management Board in relation to people in leadership positions can also decide prior to each payment of variable remuneration whether to proportionally reduce the amount of funds for the salaries taking into account:

- the impact on regulatory capital, the total capital ratio and equity of the Bank, so that the payment of variable remuneration does not limit possibilities to strengthen them,
- the impact on the cost of capital so the payment of variable remuneration does not restrict the possibility of providing an adequate capital base
- desired risk profile of the Bank,
- financial results of the Bank in relation to the long-term development plans.

50% of MRT's any variable remuneration component (partly deferred and non-deferred) is associated with the value of the phantom shares based on the share price of the Bank changing over time. As a result, each of the MRTs is involved in work to raise the value of the Bank's shares, thus acting in return for the shareholders.

The Supervisory Board approves the Policy and periodically review these Terms. On the basis of this review and on the basis of reports of the Internal Audit Department on the implementation of the Rules, the Supervisory Board may recommend updating them. Past surveys and changes in the Rules and Regulations of the variable components of remuneration did not have the character that dramatically affects the main principles and tools of motivation system.

Regardless of the MRT incentive system, also the bonus targets of the remaining employees are linked to key management indicators of the Bank taken into account for the purposes of premium imposed on the individual units of the Bank. The principle of cascade included in the bonus rules, which is monitored for compliance purpose, requires assigning targets to workers employed under individual structures.

In addition, each object is placed in line with the SMART principle (S-specific, M-measurable, A-ambitious, R-real T-term), which is also subject to cyclical monitoring.

7.1.2 Information concerning dividend

Dividend policy

On 31 March 2015 The Management Board of the Bank adopted the new version of "Principles of management of capital adequacy and equity in PKO Bank Polski SA and PKO Bank Polski SA Group", which encompass i.a., the dividend policy.

The general principle of the Bank's dividend policy is the stable execution of dividend payments over a long period in keeping with the principle of prudent management of bank and in line with the Bank's and the Group's financial capabilities. The objective of the dividend policy is to optimally shape the Bank's and the Group's capital structure, taking into account the return on capital employed and its cost, capital requirements related to development, accompanied by the necessity to ensure an appropriate level of the capital adequacy ratios. Dividend policy implies the possibility of carrying out payments from the Bank's profit for shareholders in the long term in the amount of the excess capital above the minimum capital adequacy ratios with an additional capital cushion. Dividend policy takes into account factors related to the operations of the Bank and other entities from the Group, and in particular the supervisory requirements and recommendations in terms of capital adequacy

Capital adequacy ratios determining the dividend criteria are:

- the capital adequacy ratio of the Bank and the Group will be above 12,5% and
- the common equity Tier 1 ratio of the Bank and the Group will be above 12%.

These principles were approved by the Supervisory Board on 6 May 2015.

On 31 March 2015, the Bank received recommendation from the PFSA to stop the entire profit of PKO Bank Polski SA generated in the period from 1 January 2014 to 31 December 2014 - until the establishment of the supervisory authority the amount of additional capital requirement for the Bank. PFSA expected submission of the opinion in this regard by the Management Board and the Supervisory Board.

On 7 April 2015 Management Board and on 8 April 2015 the Supervisory Board adopted resolutions on the application of PFSA's recommendation within the scope of their competencies. The Bank informed that in accordance with Article 395 § 2 point 2 of the Commercial Companies Code (KSH), the decision regarding the distribution of profit belongs to the Ordinary General Shareholders' Meeting.

On 23 October 2015, the Management Board received from the PFSA recommendation concerning the amount of the additional requirement of own funds. PFSA recommended the maintenance of the Bank's own funds to cover the additional capital requirement at the level of 0.76 p.p. in order to hedge risk arising from foreign currency mortgage loans, which should consist of at least 75% of Tier1 capital (equivalent to 0.57 pp.). This means that:

- minimum capital ratios of the Bank taking into account the additional capital requirement recommended by the PFSA are:
T1=9+0,57=9,57%, TCR=12+0,76=12,76%,
- capital ratios of the Bank taking into account the additional capital requirement in the context of dividend policy recommended by PFSA are:
 - The criteria for payment up to 50% profit for 2014 r.: CET1=12+0,57=12,57%, TCR=12,5+0,76=13,26%,
 - The criteria for payment up to 100% profit for 2014 r.: CET1=12+0,57=12,57%, TCR=15,5+0,76=16,26%.

This recommendation should be respected by the Bank from the date of receipt of the appeal until cancellation- ie. until the PFSA considers - based on the analysis and evaluation of the supervisory board - that risk associated with FX mortgage loans, being the reason of the imposition on the Bank has significantly changed. Moreover PFSA recommended to keep by the Bank of at least 50% of the profit generated during the period from 1 January 2014 to 31 December 2014.

Dividend payment

On 25 June 2015, the Ordinary General Shareholders' Meeting of PKO Bank Polski SA decided about the distribution of net profit of PKO Bank Polski SA for the year 2014 and retained earnings from previous years, allocating the profit in accordance with the recommendation of the Bank's Management Board for the supplementary and reserve capital and leaving the undivided amount of PLN 1 250 000 thousand for dividends to shareholders. Resolution of the Ordinary General Shareholders' Meeting of the Bank on the distribution of profit for 2014 was consistent with the recommendation of the PFSA dated 31 March 2015.

7.1.3 Share price of PKO Bank Polski SA at the Warsaw Stock Exchange

Share price of PKO Bank Polski SA

Strategy of PKO Bank Polski SA is focused on building long-term value for shareholders by strengthening competitive advantage, continuous efficiency improvement, investments in new technologies and increasing customer satisfaction. For the years 2012 - 2015, the Bank executed the majority of the planned strategic goals in the following areas:

- significant improvement in asset quality and a decline in risk costs,
- an increase in market share in loans and deposits through organic growth and acquisitions,
- maintain customer satisfaction above the average in the sector,
- ensuring capital adequacy at a safe level,
- strengthening liquidity measures.

Only two of the seven key strategic objectives, ie. Return on Equity (ROE) and Cost/Income ratio (C/I) was realized below planned. Nevertheless, both ROE and C/I in PKO Bank Polski SA for 2015 were significantly better than the average in the sector. Decreased value of these objectives in comparison to planned one occurred due to the following external factors:

- decrease in interest rates in Poland to its lowest level for over 25 years, which reflected in sector and the Bank's significant decline in margins and net interest income. PKO Bank Polski SA has the safest and most effective long-term financing structure in the form of stable retail deposits, but at the same time they cause - through the maturity dates and share of current deposits - increase the Bank's sensitivity to interest rates changes by the Polish National Bank. The effective management of this risk still is reflected in one of the highest margin levels and net interest income, which due to optimizing the balance sheet structure and the development of credit were in each quarter of 2015 uptrend.
- fees for the Bank Guarantee Fund doubled within 3 years
- decrease of interchange fees for card payments from 1.7% to 0.2%

Despite such significant changes in the market environment in the last three years, in the fourth quarter of 2015 PKO Bank Polski SA reached 11% consolidated Return on Equity (ROE), excluding one-off expense for the Borrowers' Support Fund and bankruptcy of Spółdzielczy Bank Rzemiosła i Rolnictwa based in Wołomin. Throughout the period of implementation of the strategy, return on equity in this amount was above the cost of capital indicated by market analysts, and thus assured the economic benefit for shareholders. Economic profit is not reflected in the market value of PKO Bank Polski SA, visible in the decline of shares on the Warsaw Stock Exchange. Other factors to those mentioned above that affected this decrease are:

- implementation of bank tax on the Polish market, which was included in the investors valuations, resulting in market overvaluation of listed banks on the Warsaw Stock Exchange. Valuation changes of Polish banks is a long term process, visible in case of Bank's multipliers valuation in 2014, as the convergence of these valuations to more mature markets and lower growth rates, margins and return on equity. In the Bank's opinion this is a structural change in the Polish market.

Bank Polski

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

- The turmoil in the financial markets related to the release, contrary to earlier declarations, by the Central Bank of Switzerland (SNB) of the Swiss franc against the euro, which resulted in abrupt weakening of the zloty against the CHF in 2015. The result was a temporary dividend suspension by the Financial Supervision Commission and debate about activities to support mortgage borrowers in CHF, which, depending on the variant, can mean significant costs for many banks, which translates to an additional discount in investor valuation. According to the Financial Supervision Authority, after reviewing and granting additional capital buffers, PKO Bank Polski SA meets the criteria for the dividend payment for 2014 years.
- Incurring significant expenses by PKO Bank Polski SA with bankruptcy of Spółdzielczy Bank Rzemiosła i Rolnictwa based in Wołomin in the fourth quarter of 2015.

Despite the unfavourable market factors that structurally affected profitability level of the banking sector in Poland, the Bank focused on achieving constant business results for investors and adapting the business model to the new market environment to ensure a return on equity above its cost and thus increasing shareholders' value.

7.1.4 Assessment of financial credibility of PKO Bank Polski SA

Creditworthiness assessment of PKO Bank Polski SA in 2015 was awarded by the rating agencies Moody's Investors Service and Standard & Poor's, which give the Bank paid rating according to their own bank assessment procedures. Fitch Ratings gives free rating (unsolicited).

On 19 May 2015, Fitch Ratings (who gives the Bank unsolicited assessment) downgraded its assessment for the Bank's support from "2" to "5". Downgrading the support for Bank resulted from the assumption that the EU Directive on restructuring and orderly liquidation of banks (BRRD) provides a framework for the process of insolvency of banks, according to which creditors will most likely be required to cover the banks' losses in case of necessity, instead of the Treasury or in the first instance before receiving support from the Treasury.

On 21 May 2015, Moody's Investors Service published a press release on the website www.moody.com, which announced the change of the Bank's ratings as a result of the review of ratings given to banks in Poland. Overview resulted from adoption of new methodology published by the Agency on 16 March 2015. According to the notes:

- deposit rating was maintained at A2/P-1,
- assessment of commitments was reduced from grade A2/(P)P-1 to grade A3/(P)P-2
- evaluation of counterparty risk was graded A2(cr)/P-1(cr)
- outlook for the rating was raised from "negative" to "stable".

The increase of perspective and maintaining the Bank's ratings resulted from the Agency's consideration of favorable macroeconomic environment in Poland and appropriate key indicators of the Bank, including improved capital ratios and the quality of the asset portfolio as well as of maintaining good profitability.

Correction of the commitments' evaluation resulted from Moody's assessment of lower probability of granting possible support from the Treasury in the event of termination of repayment obligations by the Bank. According to Moody's Poland will implement, as a country belonging to the European Union, the EU Directive on restructuring and orderly liquidation of banks (BRRD), which in the opinion of the agency creates the need to change the probability of awarding support to the Bank by the Treasury from very high to moderate.

On 17 June 2015 Standard and Poor's rating agency has published a press release on its website www.standardandpoors.com ("Note"), which announced updating of an analysis and changed the ratings of the Bank. According to the Notes Standard and Poor's lowered the long-term credit rating of the Bank and unsecured debt rating from grade "A-" to grade "BBB+". At the same time the agency has maintained the short-term credit rating at "A-2" level. The prospect has been defined as "negative".

The Agency maintained its Bank's assessment defined as "SACP" (stand-alone credit profile) at "bbb". Standard and Poor's had seen improving asset quality, lower cost of risk, as well as the strong liquidity position of the Bank. In the Note Agency evaluates capital level and the profitability of the Bank as adequate. Agency reviewed the Bank's support factor from the Treasury and concluded that the Bank no longer meets the definition of a Government related entity ("GRE"). Consequently it subtracted two so-called notches from evaluation of the Bank's support. Standard and Poor's also expressed the opinion that the Bank may receive support from the Treasury in connection with the systemically important role of the Bank for the Polish economy, adding one notch to the assessment of support. At the same time Standard & Poor's emphasizes that the Treasury remains the largest shareholder, although from 2013 it reduced its share in the stock of the Bank from 51.2% to 31.4%. Negative perspective resulted from the inclusion by Standard and Poor's and predicted by the agency for the beginning of 2016 implementation of the EU Directive on restructuring and orderly liquidation of banks (BRRD). In the opinion of rating agency it creates the possibility of reducing the long-term credit rating by one notch. It is caused by introduction of solutions aggravating creditors of the Bank for its financial problems, with limited possibility of granting the Bank support by the Treasury.

On 17 December 2015, the Bank had filed an application to the Standard and Poor's rating agency to withdraw the ratings granted to the Bank. The Bank's rating was withdrawn by the agency on 19 January 2016. Bank terminated the contract of cooperation with the rating agency Standard and Poor's and caused withdrawal of ratings due to the limitation of bond issues on international markets, especially in the United States. Termination of the contract was justified by the fact that the current structure of the Bank's balance sheet and related plans for obtaining medium and long-term financing through bond issues primarily on the domestic and European (mainly in EUR) market. Therefore, having the paid rating from only one rating agency is sufficient to carry out financial plans. An important prerequisite to terminate the contract with the rating agency Standard and Poor's in 2015 was also a need to reduce the cost of the Bank's operations, which is particularly important in an environment of low interest rates and changes in the regulatory environment. On the occasion of withdrawing the ratings, Standard and Poor's rating agency made a final analysis of the current situation of the Bank and environment of its activities and on 19 January 2016 confirmed its short-term rating at "A-2" and lowered long-term rating from 'BBB+' to 'BBB'. At the time of withdrawal of the ratings the outlook was stable. Rating agency Standard and Poor's announced that the reduction of the Bank's long-term rating was due to the ratings reduction for Poland (sovereign) on 15 January 2016. Agency's analysis found that the Bank has a strong business position, adequate capital strength and liquidity over the next two years, assets quality and a solid funding base, based mainly on retail deposits.

7.2 Compliance with the rules for corporate governance

7.2.1 The rules for corporate governance and the scope of use

The rules for corporate governance introduced in the form of a document 'Best Practices of Warsaw Stock Exchange Companies'

PKO Bank Polski SA applies the rules for corporate governance introduced in the form of a document 'Best Practices of Warsaw Stock Exchange Companies' approved by the Supervisory Board of the Warsaw Stock Exchange SA on 4 July 2007 (the Resolution No. 12/1170/2007 with subsequent amendments). The above mentioned document on corporate governance rules is publicly available at the website:

http://www.gpw.pl/dobre_praktyki_spolek_regulacje.

In 2015, PKO Bank Polski SA took necessary actions with an aim to fully obey the rules included in the document 'Best Practices of Warsaw Stock Exchange Companies'.

On 24 May 2013 the Management Board of PKO Bank Polski SA informed of its decision not to apply the rule included in Chapter IV.10 of the Code of Best Practice for WSE listed companies, in accordance with which the Bank should ensure to its shareholders the option of participating in the General Shareholders' Meeting using means of electronic communication.

The decision not to abide by that rule in accordance with which the Bank should, i.a. ensure bilateral real time communication to its shareholders in order for them to communicate during the General Shareholders' Meeting from a place other than the location of the Meeting was taken due to legal, organisational and technical risks which could threaten the proper conduct of the General Shareholders' Meeting if such a communication option was given to all shareholders.

In the Bank's opinion, the rules currently binding at the Bank ensure that all shareholders may effectively exercise all rights vested in them and secure the interests of all shareholders. The Bank does not eliminate the possibility of using this rule in the future, based on market standards developed by public companies.

Corporate governance principles contained in the document „Best Practices of Warsaw Stock Exchange Companies 2016”

On 13 October 2015, the Council of the Warsaw Stock Exchange adopted a Resolution No. 26/1413/2015 called "Best Practices of WSE Listed Companies 2016" effective as of 1 January 2016 ("Best Practices 2016"). The above-mentioned text of the Best Practices 2016 is publicly available on the official website of the Stock Exchange in Warsaw at http://www.gpw.pl/dobre_praktyki_spolek_regulacje.

The Management Board as the body and the members of the Board on 8 December 2015 adopted the use of Best Practices 2016, provided that the recommendation IV.R.2., enabling shareholders to participate in the General Meeting by means of electronic communication will not be used unless the General Shareholders' Meeting will revise the Articles of Association of the Bank authorizing the Management Board to the organization of the General Meeting by means of electronic communication. A similar resolution, adopting the Best Practices 2016 was adopted by the Supervisory Board on 28 December 2015.

Due to the fact that the WSE Rules in paragraph 29 clause 3 requires the company to publish a report only if it intentionally does not use, incidentally or permanently, non-compliance specific rule and not the recommendation, on 1 January 2016, the Bank was not obliged to publicize a report on any non-compliance with the rules.

This decision was dictated by a number of organizational and legal risks resulting from the use of such method of communication.

According to the Bank the remaining scope of the General Assemblies was organized and managed in accordance with the requirements of corporate governance. The new rules about request justifications for resolutions, including those relating to breaks in the proceedings of general meetings will be practically implemented. In the Bank's opinion remuneration policy is linked with the strategy and short- and long-term goals, long-term interests and financial results.

According to the current PKO Bank Polski SA principles of Corporate Governance for supervised institutions, issued by the PFSA, the Supervisory Board will assess the functioning of the company payroll system and the results of this evaluation will be presented to the Annual General Meeting.

Corporate governance principles for supervised institutions, issued by the Polish Financial Supervision Authority

On 9 December 2014, the Bank's Management Board adopted for use the Corporate Governance Principles for supervised institutions (adopted by the Polish Financial Supervision Authority at the meeting on 22 July 2014) concerning the responsibilities and obligations of the Management Board, i.e. conducting the Bank's affairs and representing it, in compliance with the generally binding laws and the Bank's Memorandum of Association, with the provision that paragraph 8, clause 4 of the Principles, insofar as it relates to allowing the shareholders the possibility to participate in the meetings of the decision-making authority electronically, will not be applied unless the General Shareholders' Meeting makes appropriate amendments to the Bank's Memorandum of Association authorizing the Management Board to organize the General Shareholders' Meeting using electronic means of communication. Chapter 9 of the Principles, concerning the managing of assets at the client's risk, will not be applied due to the fact that the Bank does not conduct such activities.

On 17 December 2014, the Bank's Supervisory Board adopted for use the Corporate Governance Principles for supervised institutions concerning the responsibilities and obligations of the Supervisory Board, i.e. supervising the conducting of the Bank's affairs in compliance with the generally binding laws and the Bank's Memorandum of Association.

General Shareholders' Meeting convened for 25 June 2015 declared in resolution No. 50/2015 that acting in line with its competencies it will be guided by the principles of corporate governance for supervised institutions issued by the PFSA. However it ruled out the application of the principles set out in:

- § 8 clause 4 Principles for ensuring the possibility of electronic participation of shareholders in meetings of the decision-making body,
- § 10 clause 2 Principles for introduction of personal rights or other special rights for shareholders,
- § 12 clause 1 Principles on responsibility of shareholders for immediate recapitalization of supervised institution,
- § 28 clause 4 Principles of assessing by the decision-making body whether the determined remuneration policy promotes the development and security of the institution supervised.

Bank Polski

THE PKO BANK POLSKI SA DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 2015

Withdrawal from the application of principles set out in § 8 clause 4 was in line with the prior decision of the AGM of PKO Bank Polski SA dated 30 June 2011, expressed through the failure to adopt the resolution on amendments to the Statute of the Bank, whose aim was to enable participation in the General Meeting through electronic means of communication. The decision ruling out rule was taken because of legal and organizational-technical risks, which could jeopardize the proper conduct of the general meeting. Exclusion of the application of this principle by the AGM was consistent with the opinion of the Management Board not to use it, adopted due to the fact that the current rules of the Bank about participation in General Meetings allow shareholders the effective implementation of all rights from shares and protect the interests of all shareholders.

Withdrawal from other "Principles of Corporate Governance for supervised institutions", indicated in the resolution of OGM, was due to issuing of these proposals by a qualified shareholder of the Bank - Treasury and then adoption by the OGM through the adoption of resolution no. 50/2015. According to the substantiation presented by the State Treasury along with a proposal for draft resolutions of the OGM, resignation from application of the principles set out in § 10 clause .2 and § 12 clause 1 was justified by unfinished privatization process of the Bank by the Treasury.

Withdrawal from applying of principles set out in § 28 clause 4 was substantiated, according to the request of the Treasury, with too wide range of remuneration policy evaluated by the decision-making body. In the opinion of the above mentioned shareholder, remuneration policy of the employees performing key functions but not being members of the governing body, should be subject to an assessment of their employer or principal, that is the Bank represented by the Management Board and controlled by the Supervisory Board.
